Delivery Method: Classroom and practical assessment

Introduction

Be confident in your skills with our First Aid at Work qualification.

Overview in brief

Employers are responsible for making sure employees get immediate attention if they are taken ill or injured at work and this can mean appointing a trained first aider.

If you 're a first aider why not enhance your skills and prospects by having a qualification? Our first aid qualifications also meet the requirements of statutory regulations, so your employer can be confident too.

The finer details

Our Level 3 qualification will help you to perform first aid safely, effectively and efficiently in the workplace and will make sure your colleagues are in a safe working environment.

You'll receive both theory and practical training.

There is a single mandatory unit which covers the essentials of emergency first aid. Once you have completed the assessment you will achieve the Level 3 qualification in First Aid at Work.

Who should attend?

Our qualification is for you if you're appointed as a first aider in your workplace.

What will be covered?

When you complete the qualification, you'll be able to:
